

V-Ray for MODO

Installation Guide for Windows

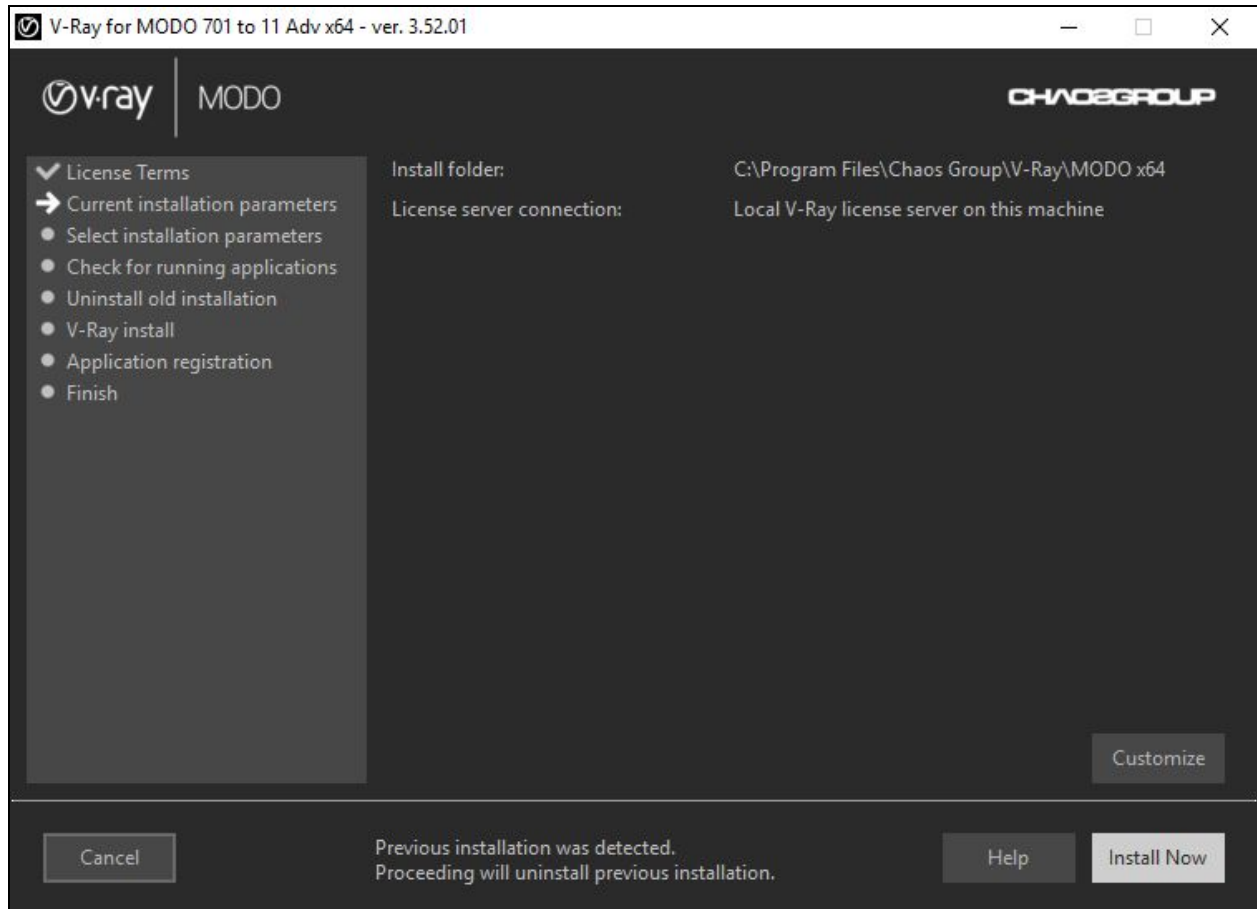

For Windows

To complete the installation follow these steps:

You will be presented with the V-Ray licensing agreement. Please take a moment to review the agreement. Click the I Agree button to proceed:

During the next step, you can click the Customize button and adjust the corresponding installation settings. The installer will detect and list any applications that need to be closed. Please close them and click Install Now.

If you have clicked the Customize button, you will be able to adjust some installation settings:

Uninstall previous installations – leave this checked to automatically uninstall any previous installations.

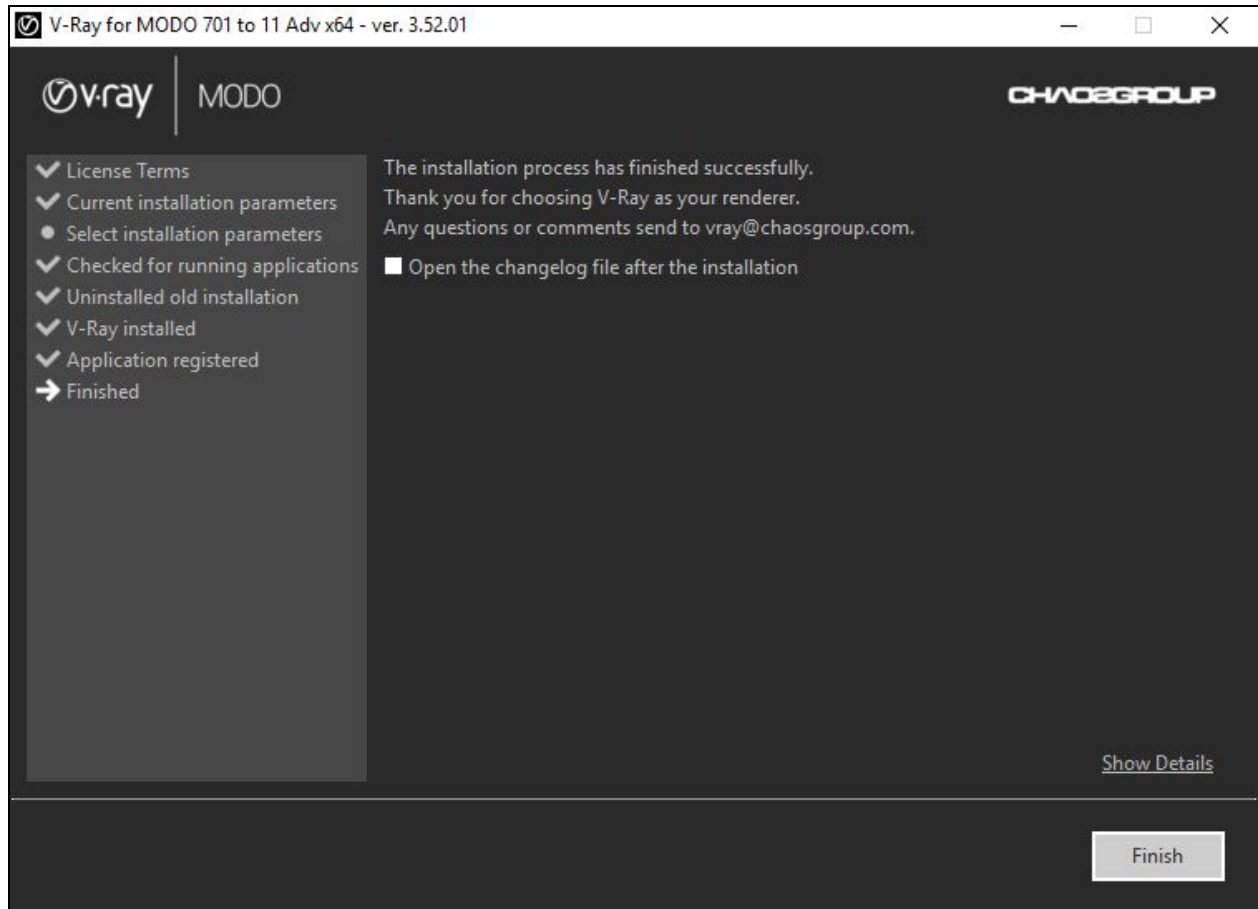

How are you going to connect to the V-Ray license server – specifies whether the V-Ray license server will run locally or on another machine. If you select “Remote V-Ray license server on the network” you will be given fields to specify the IP address of the machine on which the V-Ray License server is running.

Specify installation paths – please check if the default folders are correct.

The installer will proceed to uninstall any previous versions and install V-Ray.

If the installation was successful, you will get this screen:

Press the Finish button. For information on online licensing, see how to set up your license.
